Video Description

Behind the epic battles of World War II lies a darker, hidden truth. While nations fought to the death, powerful bankers and corporations quietly funded both sides of the conflict. From Wall Street to London, from Swiss vaults to Berlin boardrooms, money flowed across enemy lines—ensuring that no matter who won the war, the financiers always came out on top.

This video uncovers the secret role of international banks, shadowy financial institutions, and major corporations that armed both Allies and Axis powers. Discover how Wall Street loans rebuilt Germany, how the Bank of England transferred gold to the Nazis, how American corporations like Standard Oil, IBM, and Ford profited from Hitler's rise, and how the Bank for International Settlements became a meeting ground for bankers from both sides—even while their nations were at war.

History remembers generals and soldiers, but rarely the men in suits who orchestrated the war from behind closed doors. This is the untold story of the bankers who funded both sides of World War II.

I joined the Marines in 1979 for a 3-year stint. I'm SO glad that I served in the handful of years that we WEREN'T at war with someone, mainly because I have come to understand that pretty much ALL wars are fought for the profits of banks and corporations.
